Scoops of Hope returns to Marina Bay Sands with new flavours for charity

Following a successful run in 2015, Scoops of Hope is back this year with nine new gelato flavours – crafted once again by Marina Bay Sands' celebrity chef restaurants as part of the annual Sands for Singapore Charity Festival.

This year's flavours include a salty-sweet Saikyo Miso and Soy Caramel gelato created by Tetsuya Wakuda's Waku Ghin, a refreshing Coconut Lime Sorbet gelato by Daniel Boulud's db Bistro and Oyster Bar, as well as a unique Salted Gula Java gelato by local celebrity chef Justin Quek. Also onboard is Marina Bay Sands' Executive Chef Christopher Christie, who has created an Irish Yoghurt, White Chocolate and Brandied Cherries flavour.

Priced at S$5 for a single scoop, S$8 for a double scoop and S$12 for a triple scoop, all proceeds will go towards charity to support children from low-income families.

Marina Bay Sands has once again partnered with Allied Foodservice Equipment Pte Ltd., who will provide the requisite gelato equipment to support the Scoops of Hope initiative.

Last year, 1,143 litres of gelato were made and 11,799 scoops were sold.
